How to Select your Light Rail Fare

Cash Fare Customers

Before boarding, purchase light rail tickets at the ticket vending machines located at the light rail stations. The ticket vending machines are programmed to automatically calculate the correct fare based on the selected destination.

Monthly Pass Customers

Local Monthly Pass (AB, BC, CD)

Local monthly pass holders should select either an AB, BC or CD pass that corresponds to the two zones most frequently traveled. If a selection is not made, the pass holder automatically receives a Local AB pass.

If traveling to an adjacent zone not listed on the monthly pass, a zone receipt must be obtained in zone B if traveling on the C and D light rail lines or at stations in zone B or C if traveling on the E, F or H light rail lines.

For example: Local AB pass holder travels from zone B to C, or a BC pass holder travels from zone C to D. This is local travel (two-zone travel) as long as the pass holder only travels in a maximum of two adjacent zones. Both the zone receipt and monthly pass should be shown to the fare inspector.

An upgrade is needed when a Local pass holder travels in more than two zones. For example: Local AB pass holder travels from zone A to C. The number of zones traveled is three zones and the pass holder must purchase an upgrade prior to boarding at the ticket vending machine located at the light rail station.

Pass holders pay only the difference between a two-zone fare and a three-zone fare. Both the upgrade and monthly pass should be shown to the fare inspector.

Express Monthly Pass (ABC, BCD)

Express monthly pass holders should select an ABC or BCD pass that corresponds to the three zones most frequently traveled. If a selection is not made, the pass holder automatically receives an Express ABC pass.

If traveling to an adjacent zone not listed on the monthly pass, a zone receipt must be obtained at stations in zone B or C if traveling on the E, F or H light rail lines. For example: Express ABC pass holder travels from zone B to zone D or BCD pass holder travels from zone C to zone A. This is express travel (three-zone travel) as long as the pass holder only travels in a maximum of three adjacent zones. Both the zone receipt and monthly pass should be shown to the fare inspector.

An upgrade is needed when an Express pass holder travels in more than three zones. For example: Express BCD pass holder travels from zone D to A. The number of zones traveled is four zones and the pass holder must purchase an upgrade prior to boarding at the ticket vending machine located at the light rail station. Pass holders pay only the difference between a three-zone fare and a four-zone fare. Both the upgrade and monthly pass should be shown to the fare inspector.

Regional Monthly Pass (ABCD)

Regional monthly passes are valid for travel in four zones; ABCD.
