If you purchased your MyRide card online using your MyRide online account, it is already registered to you. If you purchased your MyRide card in person at a sales outlet or participating retail store, please register your card at rtd-denver.com/myride. Registering your card protects the balance if it is lost, stolen, or damaged. If your card is not registered, it is not protected and the remaining balance cannot be transferred to a new card.
We’ve made it easy to manage your MyRide card online. Once you create an account and register your card, you’ll have full access to all the benefits offered through our online account management website, including the ability to:

- Purchase additional cards
- Reload cash value
- View transaction history
- Check balance
- And more!

rtd-denver.com/myride
MyRide offers a convenient way to pay your fare on buses and trains. It uses smart card technology that deducts your fare every time you ride. You simply tap the card and hold flat on a smart card validator while boarding a bus or prior to boarding a train to pay your fare. The benefits of MyRide begin the moment you have your card in hand.

Peace of mind  You no longer have to worry about carrying exact change for your trip.

Time  Paperless transfers are included in your fare, with a three-hour transfer window after your first tap.

Balance protection  If your card is lost, stolen, or damaged, we’ll replace it and transfer your remaining balance to the new card. (Registered cards only)

Online account management  24/7 online access to check balance, view transaction history, purchase more cards, load value and much more. Log in to rtd-denver.com/myride to access your account.
What is MyRide?

MyRide is valid on all regular buses, trains, FlexRide, and SkyRide services. It is not valid on Access-a-Ride or RTD Special Service routes. Another form of fare payment is required to ride these services.
Cash value
MyRide cash value is like carrying cash. You can load and store up to $200 cash value on your card. The fare is deducted each time you tap your card on a smart card validator.

Passes
Monthly and Day Passes are currently not available on MyRide.
Fares

There are two types of MyRide cards: Full fare and Discount fare. Discount MyRide cardholders must show proof of eligibility to the bus driver when boarding a bus. On trains, cardholders must show proof of eligibility to a fare inspector upon request.

For additional information about MyRide fares, visit rtd-denver.com/myride.

For additional information about discount fares and proof of eligibility, visit rtd-denver.com/discountfares.
Order new cards and load cash value in just a few easy steps online or at RTD sales outlets or participating retail stores.

Online rtd-denver.com/myride
Order new cards and load cash value online in just a few easy steps with a debit or credit card. You can load up to a $200 maximum balance on the card. First-time card purchases and subsequent reloads online require a $5 minimum load value. You should receive your card within 7–10 business days.

Please allow 24–48 hours for the reload to process in our system. Then, tap your card to a validator to load the value onto your card. While not usual, on rare occasions, this process may take up to 72 hours to complete and for cash value to become available on the card for use.

Sales Outlets
You can load value up to a maximum card balance of $200 onto your card at an RTD Sales Outlet or participating retail store. Value is available on the card immediately. For first time card purchases, there is a $5 minimum load value required. Subsequent reloads at a Sales Outlet do not require a minimum purchase amount. Sales Outlets accept cash, check, debit, and credit cards.

Using your MyRide card

Bus
Tap and hold your card on a validator at the front of the bus every time you board, even when transferring.

- By default, your ride is logged at the highest service level available (Local, Regional, or Airport) provided by the route. Tell the driver if you need a lower service level prior to tapping and the driver will downgrade the fare.

- Hold your card to the validator until you receive a tone and light signaling validation.

- Green light: Card is valid.

- Yellow light: Card is valid, but further action is required. If you are using a discount card, show a valid form of ID and/or proof of eligibility to the bus operator if requested.

- Red light: Card is not valid. Pay fare with another form of payment.
Using your MyRide card

Train
Hold your card up to a validator prior to boarding, even when transferring between bus and train. Validators are conveniently located throughout the train stations and in high traffic pedestrian areas on train platforms.

• Select the level of service for your final destination by pressing Local, Regional, or Airport on the validator. Read the signage at each validator to help you determine which level of service you should select for your trip and then tap and hold your card to the validator.

• Listen for a tone and watch for a light and message that pops up on the screen.

• Green light: Card is valid.

• Yellow light: Card is valid, but further action is required. If you are using a discount card, show a valid ID and/or proof of eligibility to the fare inspector if requested.

• Red light: Card is not valid. Pay fare with another form of payment.
If you accidentally select the wrong fare when riding trains:

- To upgrade to the correct fare level: select the correct service level (Regional or Airport) and tap your card to the validator again. The price difference will be deducted from your card.
- You will not be able to downgrade your fare after you have paid. Call Customer Care for assistance.

Fare inspection on trains

Please present your card to a fare inspector upon request. The fare inspector will scan your card to verify your trip was validated properly. Failure to tap or select the correct service level may result in a citation and/or suspension from service.

Transfers

Whether you ride a bus or train, transfers are included with your MyRide card for up to three hours in any direction, from the first time you tap. If you transfer to a route with a higher fare, the difference will automatically be deducted from your card.
Prior to presenting your card, the validator displays the level of service (Local, Regional or Airport) and the fare amount. Validators on buses will also display the route number.

Tap your card and hold it to the reader. The display will provide your card balance and information regarding any actions that you may need to take.

Checking your available balance

There are several ways to keep track of your MyRide card balance.

Smart card validator
Your remaining card balance is displayed on the screen when you tap your card to a bus or train validator upon, or prior to, boarding. The longer you hold your card to the validator, the longer your balance information is displayed.

Sales Outlets
Visit an RTD Sales Outlet or participating retail store. A Customer Care representative can let you know the remaining balance on your card.

Online
View your card balance in the card details or transaction history sections of your online account. Please note it may take 24–48 hours for your most recent transactions to be available in the system.

Customer Care
Call our Customer Care Center at 303.299.6000. A Customer Care representative can look up your card number and provide balance information. Please note it may take 24–48 hours for your most recent transactions to be available in the system.
If your card is registered, your balance is protected. Report lost, stolen or damaged cards through your online account, an RTD Sales Outlet or Customer Care at 303.299.6000. We will deactivate the card and transfer the balance to a new one. The balance will be determined as of the time you reported the card lost, stolen, or damaged.

NOTE: Retail stores, including King Soopers and Safeway cannot deactivate or transfer balance from lost, stolen or damaged cards.
Below is a list of some of our most frequently asked questions. For a more extensive list of FAQs and other helpful hints on using MyRide, please visit rtd-denver.com/myride.

Is there a charge for the MyRide card?
Currently, there is no charge for a MyRide card. However, there is a $5.00 minimum purchase requirement the first time you load your card.

Can I use my card to purchase other fare products?
No. The MyRide cash value on your card may not be used to purchase other RTD fare products. Similarly, fares paid with your MyRide card may not be used as a credit toward other fare products including monthly passes and day passes.

Can I combine passes, smart card & tickets to pay my fare?
No. If using your MyRide card, you must pay for the entire one-way trip with your card. Partial payments for a fare are not permitted.

Can I load monthly passes or other fare media onto the smart card?
Cash value is the only product available at this time. No other fare products may be loaded onto a MyRide card.
Can I pay for multiple people with one card?
No. Only one fare-paying passenger may board per MyRide card.

How can I see the amount of the fare that was deducted from the card?
Prior to tapping your card, the MyRide full fare amount is displayed on the validator. This is the amount that will be deducted from a full fare card upon tapping, unless you are transferring. The discount fare is not displayed. The balance displayed while tapping reflects the balance after the fare was deducted.

Do I need to tap when I exit the bus or train?
You do not need to tap your card when exiting a bus or train unless it is a route that normally requires fare payment upon exiting.

What will happen if I don’t have enough stored value on my card to pay for my fare?
If you do not have enough money on your card to pay for your fare, you will need to use another form of payment to ride. No partial payments for a fare are allowed.

How can I view a summary of my transactions?
You can view a summary of your transactions through your online account. Customer Care can also provide assistance related to your transactions. Please allow up to 72 hours for transactions to be updated in our system.
Why does it take up to 72 hours for transactions to be updated in the system? Most transactions are updated within 24–48 hours; however in rare instances, it may take up to 72 hours or more for the information to be updated. This is the amount of time our system requires to process transactions.

How will I know when my card balance is low? The validator displays the remaining balance on your card each time you tap. Be sure to reload value early enough to account for the 24–72 hours our system requires to process transactions.

How do I find the smart card validators at train stations? Smart card validators are conveniently located at all train stations. Many stations have more than one validator. Most often, validators are located in high traffic pedestrian areas at the station or next to the train platform where the train arrives.

Can I automatically reload money onto my MyRide card? Not at this time but this may be a future enhancement to MyRide.

Will the MyRide card be demagnetized if I store or place it against the other cards in my wallet? No. The electronics within the card are not susceptible to this type of damage.
Does RTD have a smart card privacy policy?
Yes. RTD’s smart card privacy policy can be found at rtd-denver.com/myride.
