RTD's Board of Directors to meet remotely starting March 24

Change being made in the interest of public health; public can call in to participate

DENVER (March 17, 2020) – Starting next Tuesday, March 24, and until otherwise noted, all official meetings of the Regional Transportation District \(RTD\)'s Board of Directors will be conducted remotely, in the interest of public health, safety and welfare. There is no meeting this evening.

All items – including committee meeting agendas, minutes and full-text transcripts from past meetings – will continue to be posted on the Board of Directors webpage on the RTD website, under “Board Meeting Resources.”

All meetings will remain open to the public. To listen in, call 855-962-1128 (no passcode is required).

The public will continue to be able to address the Board at its monthly meetings, beginning next week. Callers interested in doing so should dial *3 once connected, placing public speakers in a queue and allowing the Chair to call on them in turn. As a reminder, public comment is not received during other meeting types, such as committee meetings and study sessions.

The Board's Operations & Customer Service committee approved this change at last week's meeting, on March 10.

ABOUT RTD

The Regional Transportation District develops, operates and maintains a public transportation system that meets the transit needs of close to 3 million people within an eight-county service area in the Denver Metro region. RTD's buses, rail lines, shuttles and additional services provide approximately 100 million annual passenger trips.
