Masks remain required on RTD services through April 18

Federal mandate extended one month; customers must wear face coverings when riding services or on agency property

DENVER (March 11, 2022) – The Regional Transportation District \(RTD\) continues to require its customers to wear a mask on RTD vehicles, in agency facilities and while waiting for services. The Federal Transit Administration (FTA), with guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), announced yesterday that it had extended its mask mandate on public transportation for an additional month, until April 18.

RTD also requires its operators to wear masks while operating vehicles and while moving through buildings and facilities. RTD will continue to adhere to CDC guidelines and FTA requirements pertaining to the mask mandate.
