

RTD continues 30-minute service frequency for A Line repairs at Dahlia Street crossing through Sunday, Nov. 6

*Train horns will sound at crossing during service hours; customer boarding resumes today on both tracks at all stations

DENVER (Nov. 4, 2022) — The Regional Transportation District \(RTD\) will continue to operate all A Line service at a 30-minute frequency through Sunday, Nov. 6, while repairs are made to the railroad crossing at the intersection of Dahlia Street and Smith Road.

Beginning today, customer boarding will resume on Track 1 and Track 2 at 38th•Blake, 40th•Colorado and Central Park stations, with trains operating on 30-minute frequency.

On Monday, Nov. 7, A Line service will return to its regularly scheduled 15-minute frequency. Check station platform signs or visit RTD's Service Disruptions page for more information.

Train horns will continue to sound at the Dahlia Street crossing through Nov. 10 as workers and equipment complete project operations, including roadway striping and removing barriers. Quiet zones will resume on Friday, Nov. 11.

Trains will pass workers and equipment on or near the tracks at the Dahlia Street crossing Monday through Saturday during working hours, which begin at 7 a.m. and continue through 3 a.m. the following day. As a safety precaution, train horns will sound through the Dahlia Street crossing during working hours.

Repairs are expected to provide a long-term fix that improves the way trains operate through this section of rail.
