

RTD maintenance work to significantly affect E, H and R Line service through October

Agency webpage and apps will provide current E, H and R Line light rail schedules

DENVER (March 24, 2023) — The Regional Transportation District \(RTD\) is set to begin two light rail maintenance projects to improve infrastructure along the E, H and R lines between I-25•Broadway Station in Denver and Lincoln Station in Lone Tree. The maintenance work will result in periodic schedule adjustments beginning in April and lasting into October.

Beginning Sunday, April 2, crews will repaint surfaces at Louisiana•Pearl Station. There will be no service on the E and H lines Sundays through Thursdays, 11 p.m.-5 a.m., from April 2 through May 11, as the work will require shutdown of power to overhead electrical wire for the lines during the overnight hours.

On Monday, April 3, RTD will begin an extended project to perform maintenance and repairs to the caps on top of the retaining walls, called coping panels, that run along the Southeast Rail Line south of Broadway to Lincoln Station next to I-25.

The work is expected to significantly affect rail service on the E, H, and R lines through fall of this year, and customers are encouraged to plan ahead by visiting RTD's service disruptions webpage to view adapted rail schedules and for tools to help with trip planning.
